

Cannings Connolly solicitors are delighted to announce the appointment of Matthew Sillett as a partner. Matthew will lead the firm's Corporate and Banking practice with effect from April 2010.

CANNINGS
CONNOLLY
SOLICITORS

Matthew Sillett – Biography

Matthew Sillett qualified in 1992 and specialises in general corporate and banking law, acting for a range of clients across various sectors. Matthew's experience includes company start-ups and shareholders agreements, venture capital investment transactions, private equity buy-outs, mergers and acquisitions (for buyers, sellers, investors and banks), joint ventures, commercial agreements and banking transactions (for lenders and borrowers).

Matthew's recent experience includes:

- Various private company sale transactions between £10m and £60m
- Advising various owner-managed businesses regarding their development and strategic alliances
- Advising on venture capital investment transactions in the technology, media and travel sectors
- The disposal of venture capital and private equity backed businesses, by way of share sale and asset sale
- Advising secured lenders on various acquisition finance loans between £5m and £20m
- Establishment of various shareholders agreements and joint ventures

Matthew Sillett

T: 0207 003 8116

E: msillett@cclaw.co.uk

Cannings Connolly – Corporate / Banking practice

The Corporate / Banking team at Cannings Connolly provide advice to clients across a broad range of corporate, commercial and banking matters. Clients include private companies, PLCs, institutions, individuals and banks.

The team has expertise in the following areas:

- Company start-ups and business establishments
- Banking transactions and secured lending
- Venture capital investment and fundraising
- Commercial agreements, joint ventures and other collaborations
- Private equity buy-outs
- Employment law matters
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Company law matters

www.cclaw.co.uk

